

ALL OF DENVER'S BEST HAPPY HOURS

April 6, 2016

Molly Martin

Happy hour: that most pleasurable time of day, when work is over and cheap drinks are flowing like the mighty Colorado River. We know, you can go almost anywhere in Denver around 5:30pm on a weekday to catch a discount. But let's face it: not all happy hours are created equal. Don't waste any more time downing mediocre drinks for $1 off alongside easily forgettable food. In honor of every year you had to wait before legally drinking, we have the 21 Denver spots that will truly make you the happiest, with deals that go far beyond the basics.

Blue Sushi Sake Grill

LoDo & Centennial

The happy hour menu here has more options than most other places' full menus, and the hours make catching these deals easy (Monday-Saturday, 3-6:30pm; Friday-Saturday 10:30pm-midnight; Sunday, 12-8pm). So if you like choices -- and sushi -- this is your spot. Martinis in every variety imaginable are $6 each, along with several cheap sake options, like $3.50 sake bombs.
