Group is partnering with Odell Brewing Company for a special beer: a blood orange saison that will be on the menu at all Flagship Restaurants.

The Flagship Blood Orange Saison is available now at Blue Sushi Sake Grill, Roja Mexican Grill, Blatt Beer & Table, Plank Seafood Provisions and will be at Flagship Commons, which is set to open in Westroads Mall this month.

The collaboration involved Odell's brew master, Jeff Doyle, in partnership with beer lovers from the Flagship staff. The result is a beer that Nick Hogan, Flagship CEO, describes as "a juicy beverage with notes of citrus" that's drinkable even for those not familiar with this style of beer.

Odell is based in Fort Collins, Colorado. It will also be available outside of Nebraska at Flagship locations in Colorado and Texas and in the Odell taproom.

Omahan's recipe wins Smokehouse Challenge

An Omaha woman won the Super Saver Smokehouse Challenge with a peppered steak bratwurst.

Jackie Webster, who lives in Omaha, was one of more than 100 Super Saver employees who entered the Smokehouse Challenge contest. The store's sausage makers turned the best ideas into recipes, and the best selling sausage — Webster's — won the contest.

Webster said she came up with the idea after brainstorming a way to capture the flavor of steak without the cost. Customers selected her sausage by purchasing more of it than any of the other contenders.

Super Saver's award-winning sausage maker, Smokin' Bob Voss, says the winning sausage is pretty simple. The ingredients include coarse ground beef chuck tenders and a blend of salt, pepper and garlic seasoning.

The winning flavor is now on sale at Super Saver stores in Nebraska and Council Bluffs for a limited time.
